

Congressman Rothman Receives Doctor of Humane Letters from Fairleigh Dickinson University

(Washington, DC) &ndash; Today, Congressman Steve Rothman (D &ndash; NJ), was honored by Fairleigh Dickinson University with a Doctor of Humane Letters. Rothman, one of four 2009 honorary degree recipients, accepted the award from University President Michael Adams at a ceremony held earlier in the month because of Rep. Rothman&rsquo;s commitments in Washington.

In his message to the graduates of the class of 2009, Rep. Rothman said the following:

&ldquo;Today you embark upon a new chapter in your lives, and there&rsquo;ll be changes. And with those changes come new challenges, new obligations and new opportunities. But above all, you have been granted the freedom to pursue what comes next! Do what you love. Do that which you have always wanted to do and which you only dreamed you could do. Follow your passion, work hard and doors will open. And whatever doors do open will lead you to the right path. You will know it deep in your heart when you see it.&rdquo;

Pictured L to R: Fairleigh Dickinson University President Michael Adams and Rep. Rothman.

###

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: May 19, 2009

CONTACT: Carrie Giddins, 202-225-5061; 202-420-1524 (cell)