Washington, DC – On July 12, 2011, Moroccan Ambassador Aziz Mekouar came to visit Congressman Steve Rothman (D-NJ), a member of the House Appropriations Subcommittees on State and Foreign Operations; and Defense, in his Washington, DC office.

They discussed the current turmoil in North Africa and the Middle East, and the U.S.-Morocco relationship. Congressman Rothman and Ambassador Mekouar also discussed Morocco's historic reforms that were recently proposed to establish a constitutional monarchy and a democratic parliamentary system of government.
