Washington, DC – New Jersey residents who sustained damage from Hurricane Irene have until November 30, 2011 to register for assistance through the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

“It is essential that those who have suffered from Hurricane Irene receive the assistance they deserve,” said Congressman Rothman. “Those seeking FEMA assistance should go to www.disasterassistance.gov, www.fema.gov or call FEMA toll-free, 800-621-3362 (FEMA). As always, if I can be of any assistance to anyone affected by the flooding, please contact my Hackensack office at (201) 646-0808.”
