Washington, DC – Congressman Steve Rothman (NJ-9) released the following statement:

I welcome President Obama back from his successful trip to the Republic of Korea. The President clearly understands the importance of South Korea as one of our nation's most important partners economically and in fighting for regional and global security. I continue to stand with President Obama in supporting a strong relationship between our two nations, including the US-Korea Free Trade Agreement, which has strengthened the US-Korea strategic partnership.
