

Englewood Cliffs

The small but strong Borough of Englewood Cliffs, with a population of approximately 5,000 residents, is home to the world headquarters of CNBC and the American headquarters of Unilever.

Originally a part of the City of Englewood, the Borough was incorporated on May 10, 1895. The site the borough now occupies was the scene of a heroic encounter that changed the course of our nation. An unknown farmer riding from the north over our cliffs warned General Washington's men, camped on the crest of the Palisades at Fort Lee, that the British were coming. The early warning allowed Washington to make his successful strategic retreat and thus avoid confronting the numerically superior British force.

To learn more about the Borough of Englewood Cliffs, please visit the Borough's Web site at <http://www.engagewoodcliffsnj.org>.

How Can I Help?

If you are a resident of Englewood Cliffs and would like to request assistance with a federal agency, please fill out and submit this privacy form.

Congressman Rothman Working for District 9

{mos_ri:engagewood_cliffs_town}

More Englewood Cliffs News

-

Northern Valley Suburbanite (www.nvsuburbanite.com)

- Press-Journal (<http://www.bergennews.com>)

- The Record of Bergen County (<http://www.northjersey.com/towns/englewoodcliffs.html>)

If you would like to see a media outlet added to this list, please contact us (link to contact us page).