

Rothman Welcomes Armenian-American Students

FULL RELEASE

(Washington, D.C.)—On Wednesday, July 16, 2008, Congressman Steve Rothman (D-NJ) welcomed interns from the Armenian Assembly of America's Terjenian-Thomas Internship Program to Washington, D.C. Congressman Rothman, a member of the Congressional Armenian Caucus and recipient of the 2006 "Friend of Armenians" honor, spoke with the interns about a host of issues, including foreign aid, defense funding, alternative energy, and the 2008 election. In their discussion, Congressman Rothman spoke passionately about the importance of recognizing the genocide of Armenians by the Ottoman Empire during the First World War.
