

Secaucus

Located just a few minutes west of New York City, Secaucus is a town of over 15,000 people situated partially in the New Jersey Meadowlands. Secaucus features a number of shopping outlets, including the Mill Creek Mall, as well as commercial sites such as Goya Foods Headquarters and My Network TV's WWOR-TV.

Secaucus is a well known transportation hub. The town lies at the intersection of the New Jersey Turnpike and Route 3. Secaucus is also home to the Frank R. Lautenberg Station, a railroad hub which connects nearly all of New Jersey Transit's long-distance train lines.

You can read more about this municipality, learn about its local government, and more at the Town of Secaucus website: <http://www.secaucus.org/>

If you are a resident of Secaucus and would like to request assistance with a federal agency, please fill out and submit this privacy form. You can check here to determine whether your case relates to a federal agency.

Congressman Rothman Working for District 9

{mos_ri:secaucus_town}

More Secaucus News

Secaucus Home News (available in print)

Secaucus Journal (<http://www.nj.com/secaucusjournal/>)

Secaucus Reporter (<http://www.hudsonreporter.com>)

Star Ledger (<http://www.nj.com>)

If you would like to see a media outlet added to this list, please contact us